IN

VIRGINIA.

VIRGINIA:

SHEPHERD'S-TOWN: PRINTED BY N. WILLIS

No. 505

Address by Bishop James Madison, believed to be the earliest publication, other than a newspaper, printed in West Virginia. No date appears in this 22-page pamphlet; however, from internal evidence it was probably printed late in 1791.

FOREWORD

Some time ago members of the West Virginia Library Association sought means to make their activities more valuable to the citizens of the State. A study of responsibilities of state library associations produced several ideas. Among them was the compiling of needed bibliographies and indexes or support of such activity. An opportunity to initiate this program was presented soon after the decision was made.

During the summer of 1954 I received an inquiry from Mr. Delf Norona of Moundsville, W. Va., in regard to a proposed bibliography of materials printed in (West) Virginia. Mr. Norona desired opinions of state librarians on the probable value of such a bibliography and on the extensiveness of detail in the bibliographical description of each item.

At the Fortieth Annual Conference of the West Virginia Library Association, held at Bethany College, October, 1954, the plan of the proposed bibliography was presented to the members. They voted to support the preparation and publication of it. Over the intervening time since then the scope of the bibliography was enlarged and another Association member became actively engaged in its preparation.

Mr. Delf Norona has had a long continued interest in the history of West Virginia. At present he is the editor of the West Virginia Archeologist and a member of the Moundsville Public Library Board. He is a past-president of the West Virginia Historical Society and the author of several books and numerous articles on early West Virginia history and United States postal history. Mr. Norona edited volumes one and two of the Cyclopedia of U.S. Postmarks and Postal History. Classification systems for listing various types of United States postal markings were invented by Mr. Norona.

Mr. Charles Shetler, co-compiler of the bibliography, is curator of the West Virginia collection, West Virginia University Library. Mr. Shetler received the Master of Arts degree at the University of Pittsburgh in 1949. He has written articles which are published in Western Pennsylvania Historical Magazine, West Virginia Libraries, and West Virginia History.

It is with pleasure the West Virginia Library Association presents this as its Publication No. 1. We express our appreciation to Mr. Norona for granting the Association this opportunity to support the project.

Broadside, "Laying the corner-stone Odd Fellows' Hall, on Tuesday, April 26th, A.D., 1859." Found in the corner-stone of the Odd Fellows' Hall, Wheeling, after its destruction by fire in January, 1950.

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

The American Imprints Inventory, Check List of West Virginia Imprints, 1791-1830, appeared in 1940. It contained 106 titles, an expansion from an earlier one of 58 items compiled by Douglas McMurtrie. Eleven years later, 17 additional items for that period were listed by Boyd Stutler in Papers of the Bibliographical Society of America, vol. 45, Third Quarter, 1951, Mr. Stutler suggesting an "extension down to 1863 -- when West Virginia became a separate state."

In 1859 -- nearly a century ago -- a quantity of pamphlets and broadsides were placed in the cornerstone of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows hall then being erected in Wheeling.* The building stood 90 years before its destruction by fire early in 1950. In clearing away the wreckage no attempt was made by the lodge to preserve the contents of the cornerstone, they being carried off by workmen or some passer-by. Fortunately a considerable number were subsequently acquired by Oglebay Institute of Wheeling. The editor of this publication, who is a member of the Institute's mansion museum committee, on examining the recovered publications many of which are unique, recalled Mr. Stutler's suggestion and interest was aroused. By the summer of 1953 work was taken up in earnest in revising the original McMurtrie-Stutler lists of 123 titles, and continuing the period down to the end of 1863. This includes a number of items published after 20, 1863, the date when West Virginia became a separate state.

About 45 items have been added to the McMurtrie-Stutler lists for the period 1791-1830, and nearly 1,000 for the period 1831-1863 are now recorded.

As work progressed it was noted that many authors and publishers of books, pamphlets and broadsides were also newspaper editors and publishers, also that the West Virginia section of Gregory's American Newspapers (1821-1936) needed considerable revision. Mr. Charles Shetler, Curator of the West Virginia Collection in the library of the West Virginia University, had been engaged in revising newspaper checklists,and he has prepared the list of newspapers and periodicals which appear in Part II, pages 203-270 of this work.

Special indexes have been prepared for Parts I and II, and an innovation has been made by including a map, pages 278-279, showing the locations of printing points and pertinent data.

An analytical index, pages 281-314, combines Parts I and II. Thus, by reference to Wharton, J.E., in the indexes, pages 200 and 312, it will be seen that he was an author, a newspaper editor and publisher, and a general printer.

* See illustration "Laying the corner-stone," opposite page.

Illustrations are generally reduced about one-third. In some cases they are not entirely legible; however, the intention is to present a general idea as to the appearance of a printed item rather than reproduce its text.

The Library of the West Virginia University has inaugurated a project of photostating or microfilming items of West Virginia interest, and by the time the present checklist is published it will have copies of many items not now credited to it. The student should communicate with the library regarding publications in which he is interested rather than the editor.

> It has been said that > bibliography is a secondary and contributing force, not a principal one, supporting and encouraging creative activity but not producing it. To sustain the sciences, humanities, and technology, it must serve many masters.*

One of the principal contributions which this publication is making is towards the history of literature and publishing in West Virginia. So much data has been accummulated in addition to what appears in this book that material is on hand for a possible History of books, printing and publishing in Wheeling, Virginia.

Quite a body of data has also been collected dealing with the activities of Alexander Campbell of Bethany as an author and publisher which might be useful for publication by the time of the Sesquicentennial of the Disciples of Christ in 1959.

Another event towards which this bibliography may make a contribution is West Virginia's centennial in 1963, for many items are listed dealing with the Civil War and the formation of the state of West Virginia which have never been used by historians of that period.

Personal acknowledgments are due Dr. George A. Schwegmann, jr., chief of the Union Catalog Division of the Library of Congress, and Mr. John Cook Wyllie, secretary of the Bibliographical Society of the University of Virginia, for aid in many ways. Mr. Claude E. Spencer, curator of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society, has taken an active part in the listing of publications of the Disciples of Christ in West Virginia.

Special mention is also due the Henry E. Huntington Library of San Marino, California, for checking their holdings against a preliminary copy of this list. Unfortunately, time did not permit submitting copy to other libraries. In an undertaking of this nature aid from librarians seems to be taken for granted. Space does not permit mentioning them or their libraries by name in this introduction; the list would be too long, and any attempt to do so would inevitably result in overlooking some. The code symbols indicating that a publication has actually been seen by the compiler or that it has been reported by the particular library must suffice as acknowledgment of assistance from the library credited with owning the particular volume.

On the West Virginia scene, Mr. Boyd Stutler of Charleston has placed not only his collection but his long years of experience with problems which beset the non-professional bibliographer at my disposal. Thanks are due Major T. T. Perry, jr., of Charles Town and Mr. H. E. Matheny, formerly of Parkersburg, now living in Akron, Ohio, for submitting and reporting items from their extensive collections. Indeed, at one time or other my bookshelves have been the all too temporary resting places of some of the rarest items of West Virginiana due to the willingness of these gentlemen to submit their treasures for personal examination.

Professional acknowledgments are due Mr. Charles Shetler, Curator of the West Virginia Collection in the West Virginia University, for invaluable assistance in locating items in that collection, in addition to compiling the newspaper checklist, Part II; thanks are likewise due Mrs. Pauline T. Kissler of the manuscript section of the West Virginia Collection in the University for finding many rare tracts and broadsides which had been buried out of sight in various collections of manuscript papers. Mr. Robert F. Munn, Librarian, West Virginia University, has given the project his blessing and whole-hearted support.

Among other libraries and librarians in the state who have aided in various ways are Mrs. Daisy Sutton, of the West Virginia Department of Archives and History, Miss Virginia Ebeling of the Ohio County Public Library, Mr. Omar Bacon of the Huntington Public Library, the staff of Bethany College library, and of the Kanawha County Public Library.

Publication of this volume has been made in the name of the West Virginia Library Association, which has made a donation from its slender resources towards publication costs. Contributions of a financial nature have been made by a number of well-wishers, mainly through the efforts of Mrs. W. F. Stifel and Mr. Charles Milton, officers of Oglebay Institute of Wheeling. Thanks are due Mr. John Corliss for preparing the maps on pages 278 and 279.

As already stated, Part II has been compiled by Mr. Shetler, the balance of the work, including the index, has been prepared by the editor who has personally typed final copy for lithoprinting. Consequently, he accepts the blame for those annoying typographical errors which creep into a work of this nature; it is hoped that they are but few.

Only a person who has done similar work can appreciate the tremendous amount of energy which has been expended on this time-consuming undertaking, much of it sheer drudgery. For instance, literally months have been spent scanning newspaper files and unpublished manuscript collections for references to publications, our knowledge as to the existence of which now depends solely on such references. Examples of these ars nos. 732, 751, 770, 893, and 939. In the course of poring through newspaper files choice bits of information have been secured bearing on the history of printing and publishing which have been filed for future use.

Considerable expense has been incurred in traveling literally thousands of miles, the cost of photostats, microfilm, stationery, and the like. The paying at times of holdup prices for items which just had to be acquired in order to describe them satisfactorily has been offset to some degree, at least, by that gift from a little old neighbor lady who uncovered a treasure while housecleaning. The best that can be expected with this volume as a business venture is that it will ultimately bring in a little more than is expended in printing and publishing costs.

The reward has been the satisfaction of final accomplishment of the undertaking, the knowledge that a small contribution has been made towards the building up of a National bibliography, the friendships made, difficulties overcome, and the zest and excitement experienced in following up leads climaxed by the discovery of a unique item. As summarized in Sonneck's "History of America," a paper read in 1916 -

> Bibliographical work is fascinating for him who happens to be afflicted with the disease; it is stupid work in the eyes of him who is not, but it becomes useful work in the eyes of even the scoffers if circumstances compel them to depend upon a piece of bibliographic work well done.

PART

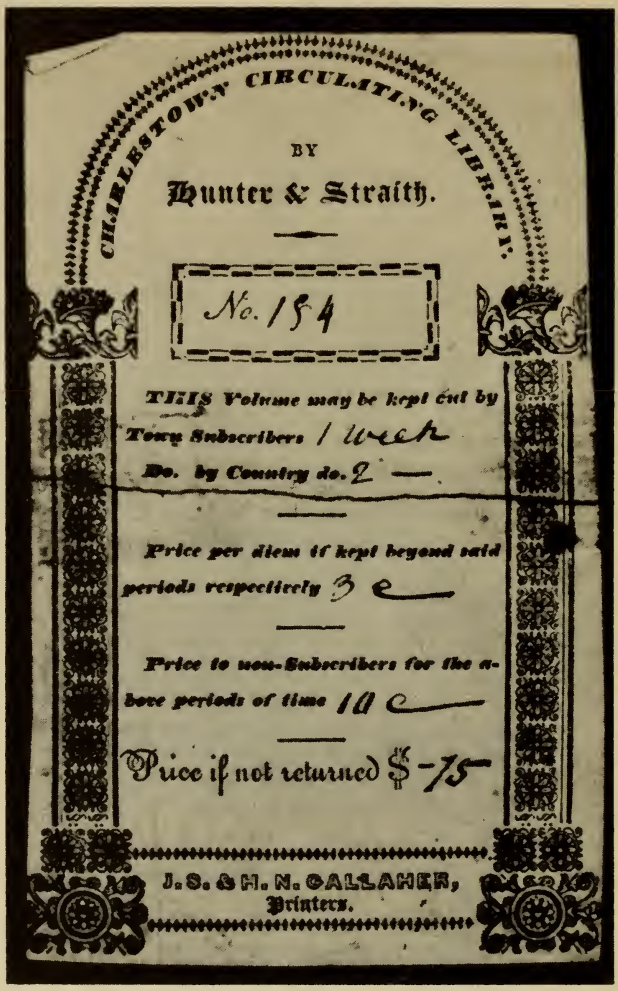
Books, pamphlets, broadsides

Compiled by

DELF NORONA



No. 303

Bookplate of the Charlestown Circulating Library. See comments on p. 15.

INTRODUCTION TO PART I

Part I is a checklist of books, pamphlets and broadsides arranged alphabetically by author.

There are also included periodicals, individual issues of which were assembled, title pages added, and bound in book form at the end of a given period. Among such are The Christian Baptist, nos. 306 to 317, The Millennial Harbinger, nos. 533 to 568, and The Ladies' Garland, nos. 472 and 473. Listings of these also appear in Part II of this work. Extras of newspapers as well as periodicals separately paged are also included in Part I.

Considerable difference of opinion exists among bibliographers as to the extent to which items such as sheet music, blank forms, wedding announcements, funeral notices, tax receipts, labels, printed envelopes and the like, should be included in a checklist of this nature.

No hard and fast rule has been followed as to the listing of such material. Blank forms are included only if they have some special subject interest or if they have unusual typographical ornaments or peculiarities. Items bearing on the history of publishing and those of historical significance generally are included, particularly items which deal with the Civil War and the formation of the state of West Virginia. In other words, the coverage is selective and not intended to be comprehensive.

A couple of examples may be mentioned:

The promissory note form, no. 490, bearing the imprint John P. M'Ardle, printer--Wellsburg, illustrated on p. 93, is the only evidence we have that he was a printer in Wellsburg. If the form had no such imprint it would have been omitted.

The book label of the Charles Town Circulating Library, no. 303, illustrated on p. 14, is evidence not only of the existence of that library and that Hunter and Straithwere the proprietors -- incidentally, it will be noted from no. 737 that Straith was also an author -- but also that J. S. and H. N. Gallaher made ingenious use of their type ornaments.

Sheet music bearing West Virginia imprints is included: Incidentally the list is short. The item Aikin, The Christian Minstrel, no. 3, printed in Philadelphia but with multiple imprints including that of John Fisher, an active book dealer in Wheeling, is listed. A number of items printed outside of the state but bearing West Virginia imprints are included, such as the Aikin book just mentioned; also a few having some direct connection with West Virginia will be found, such as the Tomlinson item bearing a Wheeling date line, no. 761.

The decision to present this as an author checklist was made only after careful consideration of several factors. Chief among these are that since a span of over seventy years is covered, that since it includes the printing points in the entire state and that it is the first compilation to bring together in a single list the product of the entire West Virginia press prior to statehood, it seems advisable to present it in such form that librarians and students can readily check their holdings.

When more nearly definitive lists are compiled as a result of this preliminary work, they may then be published in chronological form, at which time full entries and annotations may be included.

However, the editor believes that imprint checklists, such as the present one, are short of the ideal. The student generally is more interested in knowing what was published about a given subject no matter where printed than in knowing only what was printed about that subject in a certain area.

For instance, only four West Virginia imprints deal with the Wheeling bridge, whereas, in the course of compilation of this work the editor has seen and recorded about 50 items published outside of the state dealing with the celebrated Wheeling bridge suit. The same applies to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, the Ohio river, land and mining companies, and so on.

An example of an almost ideal bibliography is Coleman, Bibliography of Kentucky History, in which entries are by subject and selected regardless of place of publication. Here then, is a challenge for the publication of a Bibliography of West Virginia History.

The usual cataloging rules have been followed generally in listing by author or title, corporate and personal entries, and so on. The texts of wrapper cover titles are given only where they differ materially from the title pages. Following what seems to be the latest practice the vertical dimensions of broadsides are given first followed by the horizontal.

Publications and checklists which have been used as guides and models are listed under the section Bibliography, p. 271 to 276.

Lengthy titles have frequently been abridged, such as Abdill, New Theory of the Weather, no. 1 [illustration on p. 18]; and Hersey, A voice from the Grave, no. 443 [illustration on p. 86]. Omitted portions in the descriptions are indicated by ellipses (three dots ...). In every case, however, the names of authors, printers, imprint points and dates are given exactly as they appear on the title pages.

Locations of copies of publications are indicated by means of the symbols listed in Symbols used in the National Union Catalog of the Library of Congress, 6th ed. revised, Washington, 1954. A list of symbols for chief holding libraries, all West Virginia libraries, and libraries not listed in the publication just mentioned, appears on pages 11 and 12.

Items of which either the original or a photostat of the title page has been seen by the compiler are underscored. Items marked with asterisks, *, are those which have been reported to the compiler but not seen by him. Where a photostat or microfilm of a publication is owned by the compiler that fact is so noted.

Thus -

NN.	Original copy seen in the New York Public Library or photostat of title page has been furnished the compiler.
RPB.	Copy credited to Brown University from secondary sources. Copy not seen by the compiler.
Norona (photo).	Photostatic copy of the publication owned by the compiler.
PHi (not found).	Copy credited to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania by a secondary source, but it reports that the item cannot now be located.
WvU (film)*	Microfilm owned by the West Virginia University as reported by it, but copy not seen by the compiler.

Credit is given to the owners of scarcer items (those of which six or less copies are known), regardless of ownership. Where over six copies are known, only the larger libraries owning significant collections of West Virginia imprints, namely, CSmH, DLC, NN, OClWHi, and ViU, are listed as well as specialized libraries in their fields. All West Virginia libraries are credited with their holdings. The entire collection of the editor, both originals and reproductions, are listed, as an indication as to the source of information from which descriptions are given.

The name of at least one collector known to own a copy is listed under each publication. It will be noted that four collectors, Messrs. Matheny, Perry, Stutler, and the editor collectively own far more than any library, indeed, we have either originals or facsimilies of more than half the total number of known West Virginia imprints prior to statehood.

LATE A

MONK OF LA TRAPPE!

Will appear in

MONASTIC DRESS,

And deliver his

SECOND LECTURE,

Tuesday Evening, May 21 at 8 o'clock

IN THE

WHEELING.

SUBJECT.—Popish Nunneries and Auricular Confession, according to Bishops Kenrick and Hughs' Theology.

"Lect nfessi, qui magnum proximum, pastor in tenebris diem tactis allegris, examni pollute mentis Coeli tenere abstinentiam est, et proximo non nisi valde nocivus."

The Lecture will be illustrated by a vast number of unconteverible quotations from the Latin Theology of the Infallible Church of Rome. Each catalogue Mr. Leahey has, by public request, translated and published, with the original Latin on one side of the page, and English on the other, and will be offered for sale on the evening of the Lecture, at the low price of 25 cents for each book.

Mr. Leahey will show, at the close of his Lecture, that he made solemn vows as Monk of La Trappe—was subsequently released from his solemn Vow of Celibacy by the late Pope—was afterwards married to a young lady, by the Rev. Felix Barbelin, a Jesuit Priest, at St. Joseph's Church Philadelphia—she and Priest Barbelin connected with Bishop Kenrick and Priest Walsh of New Orleans, in the final separation of Mr. Leahey and wife, which separation was obtained by SACERDOTAL PERJURY!! In corroboration of the above statement, Mr Leahey, at the close of his lecture, will exhibit original Latin Documents from the Pope and Bishop Kenrick, signed by J Swift, Esq., Mayor of the City of Philadelphia.

I CORDIALLY INVITE ANY ROMAN CATHOLIC PRIEST TO BE PRESENT AT MY LECTURE, and then it will be shown whether the reading of the Standard Catholic Books, published under the sanction of the Right Reverend Bishops among us, in bearing false witness against them.

EDWARD LEAHEY

LADIES AND YOUTHS

Are positively prohibited from coming to this Lecture, as some awful disclosures will be made.

PROCLAMATION!

IN pursuance of instructions from the Governor of Virginia, notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern,

That, as heretofore, particularly from now until after Friday next the 2nd of December, STRANGERS found within the County of Jefferson, and Counties adjacent, having no known and proper business here, and who cannot give a satisfactory account of themselves, will be at once arrested.

That on, and for a proper period before that day, stangers and especially parties, approaching under the pretext of being present at the execution of John Brown, whether by Railroad or otherwise, will be met by the Military and turned back or arrested without regard to the amount of force, that may be required to effect this, and during the said period and especially on the 2nd of December, the citizens of Jefferson and the surrounding country are EMPHATICALLY warned to remain at their homes armed and guard their own property.

Information received from reliable sources, clearly indicates that by so doing they will best consult their own interests.

No WOMEN or CHILDREN will be allowed to come near the place of execution.

HEADQUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF THE OHIO, May 26, 1861.

To the Union Men of Western Virginia!

VIRGINIANS! The General Government has long enough endured the machinations of a few factious rebels in your midst. Armed traitors have in vain endeavored to deter you from expressing your loyalty at the polls. Having failed in this infamous attempt to deprive you of the exercise of your dearest rights, they now seek to inaugurate a reign of terror, and thus force you to yield to their schemes and submit to the yoke of the traitorous conspiracy dignified by the name of the Southern Confederacy. They are destroying the property of citizens of your State and ruining your magnificent railways. The General Government has heretofore carefully abstained from sending troops across the Ohio, or even from posting them along its banks, although frequently urged to do so by many of your prominent citizens. It determined to await the result of the late election, desirous that no one might be able to say that the slightest effort had been made from this side to influence the free expression of your opinions, although the many agencies brought to bear upon you by the rebels were well known. You have now shown under the most adverse circumstances that the great mass of the people of Western Virginia are true and loyal to that benificent government under which we and our fathers have lived so long. As soon as the result of the election was known the traitors commenced their work of destruction. The General Government cannot close its ears to the demand you have made for assistance. I have ordered troops to cross the Ohio river. They come as your friends and brothers, as enemies only to the armed rebels who are preying upon you. Your homes, your families, and your property are safe under our protection. All your rights shall be religiously respected, notwithstanding all that has been said by the traitors to induce you to believe that our advent among you will be signalized by interference with your slaves. Understand one thing clearly. Not only will we abstain from all such interference, but we will on the contrary with an iron hand crush any attempt at insurrection on their part, now that we are in your midst. I call upon you to fly to arms and support the general government, sever the connection that binds you to traitors, proclaim to the world that the faith and loyalty so long boasted by the Old Dominion are still preserved in Western Virginia, and

No. 807

Head-Quarters, Department of the Ohio.

GRAFTON, VA., June 23d, 1861.

To the Inhabitants of Western Virginia:

The army of this Department, headed by Virginia troops, is rapidly occupying all Western Virginia. This is done in co-operation with, and in support of such civil authorities of the State as are faithful to the Constitution and laws of the United States. The proclamation issued by me, under date of May 26th, 1861, will be strictly maintained. Your houses, families, property, and all your rights will be religiously respected; we are enemies to none but armed rebels, and those voluntarily giving them aid. All officers of this army will be held responsible for the most prompt and vigorous action in repressing disorder, and punishing aggression by those under their command.

To my great regret I find that enemies of the United States continue to carry on a system of hostilities prohibited by the laws of war among belligerent nations, and of course far more wicked and intolerable when directed against loyal citizens engaged in the defense of the common Government of all. Individuals and marauding parties are pursuing a guerilla warfare, firing upon sentinels and pickets; burning bridges; insulting, injuring and even killing citizens because of their Union sentiments, and committing many kindred acts.

I do now, therefore, make proclamation, and warn all persons, that individuals or parties engaged in this species of warfare—irregular in every view which can be taken of it—thus attacking sentries, pickets or other soldiers; destroying public or private property, or committing injuries against any of the inhabitants because of Union sentiments or conduct, will be dealt with in their persons and property according to the severest rules of military law.

All persons giving information or aid to the public enemies, will be arrested and kept in close custody; and all persons found bearing arms, unless of known loyalty, will be arrested and held for examination.

GEO. B. McCLELLAN,
Maj. Gen. U. S. Army, Commanding Department.

No. 808

No. 807. Before the breaking out of hostilities, the people of Virginia were strongly opposed to the U.S. Army entering the state. This proclamation, printed in Parkersburg and in Wheeling, gives the reason for the entry of Federal troops into western Virginia.

Virginia (Wheeling Govt.)

HISTORICAL NOTE: As a result of dissatisfaction with the action taken by the state of Virginia in the matter of secession from the Union, a convention of the people of North Western Virginia was held in May, 1861, at Wheeling, popularly known as the Wheeling Convention. Its publications are entered under: Wheeling. Convention, First Wheeling; nos. 1104 to 1107.

In June, 1861, a second convention was held in Wheeling. Its publications are entered under: Wheeling. Convention, Second Wheeling; nos. 1108 to 1112.

As a result of action taken at the Wheeling conventions, a reorganized state government was set up at Wheeling. Its publications are entered under: Virginia (Wheeling Govt.); nos. 922 to 948.

The Assembly of the reorganized government, setting the machinery in motion for the erection of a new state out of a portion of the state of Virginia, called for a constitutional convention to meet in Wheeling in Nov 1861. Publications of the Constitutional Convention are entered under: West Virginia. Constitution; and, West Virginia. Constitutional Convention; nos. 968 to 1071.

MESSAGE

GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA.

To the Senate and House of Delegates,
of the Commonwealth of Virginia:

GENTLEMEN:—

You have been convened in extraordinary session in midsummer, when, under other circumstances you should be at home attending to pursuits incident to this season of the year. The exigencies with which we find ourselves surrounded demand your counsels.

I regret that I cannot congratulate you on the peace and prosperity of the country, in the manner which has been customary with Executives, both State and Federal. For the present, those happy days which as a nation we have so long enjoyed, and that prosperity which has smiled upon us, as upon no other nation, are departed.

It is my painful duty to announce that the late Executive of the State, with a large part of the State officers, civil and military, under him, are at war with the loyal people of Virginia, and the constitutional government of the United States. They have leagued themselves with persons from other States, to tear down the benign governments, State and Federal, erected by the wisdom and patriotism of our fathers, and under which our liberties have so long been protected and our prosperity secured. They have instituted civil war in our midst, and created a system of terror around us, to intimidate our people.

But while we are passing through this period of gloom and darkness in our country's history, we must not despair, or fold our hands until the chains of despotism shall be fastened upon us, by those conspiring against our liberties. As freemen, who know their rights, and dare defend them, our spirits must rise above the intimidation and violence employed against us, and we must meet and conquer every obstacle these men are attempting to interpose between us and our liberties. If we manfully exert ourselves, we shall succeed. There is a just God who rides upon the whirlwind

ARTICLE I.

THE STATE.

1. The State of West Virginia shall be and remain one of the United States of America. The Constitution of the United States, and the laws and treaties made in pursuance thereof, shall be the supreme law of the land.

2. The following counties, formerly parts of the State of Virginia, shall be included in, and form part of, the State of West Virginia, namely: the counties of Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Marshall, Wetzel, Marion, Monongalia, Preston, Taylor, Pleasants, Tyler, Ritchie, Doddridge, Harrison, Wood, Jackson, Wirt, Roane, Calhoun, Gilmer, Barbour, Tucker, Lewis, Braxton, Upshur, Randolph, Mason, Putnam, Kanawha, Clay, Nicholas, Cabell, Wayne, Boone, Logan, Wyoming, Mercer, McDowell, Webster, Pocahontas, Fayette, Raleigh, Greenbrier and Monroe.

And if a majority of the votes cast at the [illegible] elections held, as provided in the schedule hereof, in the district composed of the counties of Pendleton, Hardy, Hampshire and Morgan, shall be in favor of the adoption of this Constitution, the said four counties shall also be included in, and form part of, the State of West Virginia; and if the same shall be so included, and a majority of the votes cast at the said elections or election, in the district composed of the counties of Berkeley, Jefferson and Frederick shall be in favor of the adoption of this Constitution, then the three last mentioned counties shall also be included in, and form part of, the State of West Virginia.

Convention of the People of North Western Virginia

HELD AT WHEELING, MAY 13TH, 1861.

The following RESOLUTIONS were unanimously adopted:

1. Resolved, That in our deliberate judgment, the ordinance passed by the Convention of Virginia on the 17th day of April, 1861, known as the ordinance of secession, by which said Convention undertook in the name of the State of Virginia, to repeal the ratification of the Constitution of the United States by this State, and to resume all the rights and powers granted under said Constitution, is unconstitutional, null and void.

2. Resolved, That the schedule attached to the ordinance of secession suspending and prohibiting the election of members to Congress for this State, is a manifest usurpation of power, to which we ought not to submit.

3. Resolved, That the agreement of the 24th of April, 1861, between the Commissioners of the Confederate States and this State, and the ordinance of the 25th of April, 1861, approving and ratifying said agreement, by which the whole military force and military operations, offensive and defensive, of this Commonwealth, are placed under the chief control and direction of the President of the Confederate States, upon the same principles, basis and footing as if the Commonwealth were now a member of said Confederacy; and all the acts of the executive officers of our State in pursuance of said agreement and ordinance, are plain and palpable violations of the Constitution of the United States, and are utterly subversive of the rights and liberties of the people of Virginia.

4. Resolved, That we earnestly urge and entreat the citizens of the State every where, but more especially in the Western section, to be prompt at the polls on the 23d instant, and to impress upon every voter the duty of voting in condemnation of the ordinance of Secession, in the hope that we may not be involved in the ruin to be occasioned by its adoption, and with the view to demonstrate the position of the West on the question of secession.

5. Resolved, That we earnestly recommend the citizens of Western Virginia to vote for members of the Congress of the United States, in their several districts, in the exercise of the rights secured to us by the Constitutions of the United States and the State of Virginia.

6. Resolved, That we also recommend to the citizens of the several counties to vote at said election for such persons as entertain the opinions expressed in the foregoing resolutions for members of the Senate and House of Delegates of our State.

7. Resolved, That in view of the geographical, social, commercial and industrial interests of Northwestern Virginia, this Convention are constrained in giving expression to the opinion of their constituents to declare that the Virginia Convention in assuming to change the relation of the State of Virginia to the Federal Government, have not only acted unwisely and unconstitutionally, but have adopted a policy utterly ruinous to all the material interests of our section, severing all our social ties, and drying up all the channels of our trade and prosperity.

8. Resolved, That in the event of the Ordinance of Secession being ratified by a vote, we recommend to the people of the Counties here represented, and all others disposed to co-operate with us, to appoint on the 4th day of June, 1861, delegates to a General Convention, to meet on the 11th of that month at such place as may be designated by the Committee hereinafter provided, to devise such measures and take such action as the safety and welfare of the people they represent may demand,—each County to appoint a number of Representatives to said Convention equal to double the number to which it will be entitled in the next House of Delegates; and the Senators and Delegates to be elected on the 23d inst., by the counties referred to, to the next General Assembly of Virginia, and who concur in the views of this Convention, to be entitled to seats in the said Convention as members thereof.

9. Resolved, That inasmuch as it is a conceded political axiom, that government is founded on the consent of the governed and is instituted for their good, and it cannot be denied that the course pursued by the ruling power in the State, is utterly subversive and destructive of our interests, we believe we may rightfully and successfully appeal to the proper authorities of Virginia, to permit us peacefully and lawfully to separate from the residue of the State, and form ourselves into a government to give effect to the wishes, views and interests of our constituents.

10. Resolved, That the public authorities be assured that the people of the North West will exert their utmost power to preserve the peace, which they feel satisfied they can do, until an opportunity is afforded to see if our present difficulties cannot receive a peaceful solution, and we express the earnest hope that no troops of the Confederate States be introduced among us, as we believe it would be eminently calculated to produce civil war.

11. Resolved, That in the language of Washington in his letter of the 17th of September, 1787, to the President of Congress, "in all our deliberations on this subject we have kept steadily in view that which appears to us the greatest interest of every true American, the consolidation of our Union, in which is involved our prosperity, liberty, safety, and perhaps our national existence." And therefore we will maintain and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the laws made in pursuance thereof, and all officers acting thereunder in the lawful discharge of their respective duties.

12. Resolved, That John S. Carlile, James S. Wheat, C. D. Hubbard, F. H. Pierpont, Campbell Tarr, G. R. Latham, Andrew Wilson, S. H. Woodward, and James W. Paxton, be a General Committee to attend to all the matters connected with the objects of this Convention, and that they have power to assemble this Convention at any time they may think necessary.

13. Resolved, That each county represented in this Convention, and any others that may be disposed to co-operate with us, be requested to appoint a Committee of five, whose duty it shall be to correspond with the Central Committee, and to see that all things necessary be done to carry out the objects of this Convention.

14. Resolved, That the Central Committee be instructed to prepare an address to the people of Virginia, in conformity with the foregoing resolutions, and cause the same to be published and circulated as extensively as possible.

By Order of the Convention.

JOHN W. MOSS, President.

S. L. CRAWFORD,
M. M. DENT, Secretaries.

CHRONOLOGICAL INDEX

In addition to publications actually printed in West Virginia, items are also included which were printed elsewhere but which have some direct connection with the state.

For instance, the broadside no. 463 was printed before a press existed in Charleston, Kanawha county, but it is listed inasmuch as it bears the caption title, Charlestown, [sic] Kanawha County, Virginia.

ADDRESS OF THE DELEGATES

COMPOSING THE

NEW STATE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

CONSTITUENTS.

Adopted February 18th, 1863.

FELLOW-CITIZENS: Your delegates in convention having made the change in the constitution proposed by Congress, have submitted the same, as amended, for your final ratification or rejection, at an election to be held on the twenty-sixth day of March next.

Before remarking on the proposed change, we call your attention to some of the features of the Constitution which differ from the system to which you have been accustomed. The most important is that which abolishes the county courts. In this we have the sanction of your frequently expressed opinions, and of the almost unanimous action of your delegates in the Constitutional Conventions of 1829 and 1850. Whatever may have been the merits of these courts as judicial tribunals, for which purpose the establishment of the circuit courts made them unnecessary, their inefficiency as administrators of county affairs, owing mainly to their want of adaptation to the purpose, has been apparent. The union, in one body, of judicial, legislative and executive powers, is sufficient to condemn them.

To supply their place in the judiciary we have raised the jurisdiction of the justices and increased the number of the terms of the Circuit Courts, by which much unnecessary expenditure will be avoided. To secure a just and faithful administration of the fiscal and other concerns of the counties, they are sub-divided into townships, each of which elects annually a member of a county board charged with such administration; but to the people of each township is reserved the right to transact, under such regulations as the Legislature may prescribe, the public business relating exclusively to their township. In short, the endeavor has been

Appeal to the voters to ratify the amended constitution at an election to be held May 26 1863. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the amended constitution: 27,749 For Adoption, to 572 Against.

INTRODUCTION TO PART II

This checklist of newspapers and periodicals covers the years 1790 through 1863, from the date of the first appearance of the newspaper press at Shepherdstown, through the year in which West Virginia became a state.

The exact number of presses established and titles published during the years covered by the checklist cannot be ascertained due to insufficient data at this time. At least 43 towns had a newspaper or periodical press during some period from 1790 to 1863. Counting multiple editions--dailies, semi-weeklies, and weeklies issued simultaneously from one office--these 43 towns produced some 280 titles of newspapers and periodicals. In addition to this number of reasonably certain publications, there were six titles found of projected publications which in all probability never came off the press.

No copies were located for about 124 of the 280 titles listed. The existence of papers for which no copies are extent was established through editorial and news notes in contemporary newspapers, in printed and manuscript local history sources, and through correspondence with persons having knowledge of special aspects of the history of printing and publishing in the state.

Most of the titles listed were, of course, issued as weeklies. This class constitutes about 207 of the entries in the checklist. Daily publication began, and was concentrated at, Wheeling through the whole period. Beginning in 1835 the first Wheeling Gazette issued a daily which was published for nine years. The Wheeling Times, which began publication as a weekly about September, 1831, came out with a daily edition sometime late in 1842. The Wheeling Argus was publishing a daily by 1846. Apparently the first paper to commence publication as a daily, with no prior weekly edition, was the Daily Young America in 1853, issued by George O. Little and Company. Wheeling had one or more dailies in publication every year from 1835 through the end of this period. The year 1855 saw at least six different dailies printed in this largest town in western Virginia.

Fifteen of the titles listed were published as Civil War soldier papers, either by army units on active duty, or under military auspices. All of these camp papers were published by Federal troops, and as far as is known they were printed on existing civilian presses which were commandeered by the military.

Although in this period it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between a newspaper and a periodical, some 15 publications were of a nature which would place them in the latter category. Religious publications include the offerings of the Disciples of Christ at Bethany--The Christian Baptist, and The Millennial Harbinger, begun in 1823 and 1830. The Protestant Episcopal Church sponsored The Lay-Man's Magazine at Martinsburg for about a year in the period 1815-1816. The United Brethren Church published the Virginia Telescope at West Columbia in the 1850s. Methodist and Baptist bodies of one branch or another published the Northwestern Virginia Baptist, and the Southern Methodist Itinerant and other organs at Charleston, Fairmont, Grafton, Morgantown, Parkersburg, and Williamstown between 1847 and 1861.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows issued a journal, The Album, in Morgantown in 1854, no copies of which have survived. A temperance paper was reported in publication in Wheeling in 1843, and called, somewhat incongruously, The Fountain, while the Tocsin of Reform was begun on October 1, 1854, in Lewisburg, also as a temperance sheet.

A number of student publications flourished in the late antebellum period. At Bethany College a run of exhortative and literary periodicals appeared in the decade prior to the Civil War, edited by students and published by college literary societies. The Stylus, established probably in 1851, was continued into 1857, and was succeeded by The Neotrophian Magazine, and later the Bethany College Magazine, by 1860. One of the first efforts at a campus humor magazine appeared at Morgantown where the students of Monongalia Academy published, without illustrations, the first number of The Sharp Stick, on June 20, 1860. In what was a counterpart of the present day house organ, the photographic studio of A.C. Partridge in Wheeling published in 1858 The Photographer, a lively throwaway promoting photography in general and the services of the sponsoring studio in particular.

Several German language publications were located, but with few copies extant for the years covered here. The Virginische Staats-Zeitung appeared in Wheeling about 1850. A German daily, the Wheeling Republican, was established September 1, 1855, and the Daily Virginia State Gazette began publication on March 19, 1860.

Titles are listed alphabetically under the place of publication. The names of towns and words in the title indicating frequency of publication are disregarded in the entries. Frequency of publication is given when known. The dates of publication are inclusive when known. A single year date indicates that the paper was printed or presumed to have been printed in that year, with no evidence that earlier or later publication took place. The termination of a publication is indicated by the symbol (//). An attempt has been made to establish the beginning date of each title and to list the volume and number of the last copy located. Number ones, when taken from extant papers, are indicated (1:1). When the first number of a paper was not available, and no other authoritative reference was found to establish the beginning date, this date was arrived at by counting the issues back from the first issue located. These dates are at best approximations, since suspensions and new series numberings cannot be accounted for. The notes on editors, proprietors, and publishers are given as they were found in the publications themselves whenever possible, otherwise they were taken from secondary sources as listed in the body of the text. The holdings are listed as they were reported by the libraries which participated in the project. The symbols for these libraries are listed on pages 11-12. Microfilm copies of papers are indicated by (m), and photostat copies by (p).

Each library which reported West Virginia holdings in the Brigham and Gregory lists of newspapers was furnished with a copy of its holdings and was asked to make corrections and additions to bring the list up to date, and to provide the names of editors, publishers, and proprietors. I examined the original files or microfilm copies of the holdings of the Library of Congress, Marietta College, and ofall West Virginia libraries.

Many persons contributed data and assistance in the preparation of this checklist. I am indebted to all the librarians and individuals who checked their institutional and private collections, and who took considerable pains to report in detail their holdings, along with biographical and historical data on editors and papers. Mr. James O. Sutton of the Library of Congress extended courtesies which greatly expedited the searching of files there. Mr. Earle Lutz furnished information on many Civil War camp papers and reported titles which were otherwise unlocated. Mr. Boyd B. Stutler read the manuscript and suggested a number of clarifications. Mr. Don Bond, associate professor of journalism at West Virginia University, checked all of the entries against his notes on the history of journalism in West Virginia, and was especially helpful in unraveling the maze of unrelated papers with similar titles which existed for several decades in Wheeling. Mrs. Cary Sutton, librarian at the State Department of Archives and History at Charleston, made generous loan over several months of microfilms of newspapers in that library. It has been a genuine pleasure to work with the editor of this publication, and his counsel, aid, and comfort are here acknowledged. Finally, I have had the highly competent help of Mrs. Pauline T. Kissler, assistant in manuscripts in the West Virginia collection, who collaborated on the checklist from the beginning, and whose interest and industry contributed in large measure to its completion.

To the above named, and to all of the unnamed who have made this publication possible, I am under obligation. The immediately apparent deficiencies, and those which come out through use, are mine.

KANAWHA Valley Star. w 1855-1861//
Estab. Jan 1 1855(1:1), at Buffalo, Putnam Co., as Star of the Kanawha Valley.
Ed. by John Rundell & William R. Murrell, with Rundle, Murrell & Kennedy, props; Rundel & Murrell, props. by Mar 7 1855; John Rundle is listed as ed., prop. & pub. from Jul 23 1856.
With the issue of Apr 14 1857, the place of publication was changed from Buffalo to Charleston, and the title changed to Kanawha Valley Star. Strongly Democratic and secessionist, the plant was burned "by an incendiary," according to Cooper's Clarksburg Register of Nov 28 1855, some time after Aug 15 1855, but publication was resumed by Nov 15 1855.
Pubn. was suspended, apparently with the issue of Jul 2 1861, when the editor "was forced to run himself into the mountains," by the confiscation of the plant by Federal troops (Wheeling Daily Intelligencer, Nov 8 1861.) W.R. Murrell was issuing a paper in Gallipolis, Ohio, by Jul 1860 (Southern Methodist Itinerant, Parkersburg, Jul 25 1860). Listed in Kenny both under Buffalo and Charleston.

Fairmont TRUE Virginian. w 1851(?)-1861//
A continuation of The Democratic Banner, Fairmont, by A.J. O'Bannon, with the title The True Virginian, and Transallegheny Advertiser. The paper first appeared with this title between Dec 21 1850, the date of the last known Democratic Banner(1:39), and Jul 5 1851, the first issue located of the True Virginian. The volume numbering of the Banner was evidently continued as the issue of Aug 7 1852 of the True Virginian is 3:19, which would indicate a beginning date of ca. Apr 6 1850, and the Democratic Banner was estab. in Mar 1850. The title was shortened by the issue of Aug 7 1852.
O'Bannon was a lawyer in the firm of O'Bannon and ⌜Z.⌝ Kidwell. By Aug 7 1852, O'Bannon and ⌜George P.⌝ Morgan were pubs. Benjamin F. Beall was associated with O'Bannon for a time, and Beall's interest was acquired by Morgan, according to Dunnington, p.107.
William F. Drinkard bought the paper in 1853 and pub. it until 1861(Dunnington, p.107), when he joined the Confederate army (Daily Intelligencer, Wheeling, May 27 1861). Some time before Jul 10 1861(12:2), the paper was controlled by Federal troops, and on this date, the last issue located, it was pub. by the 20th Regt., O.V.M., ed. by Maj. C.N. Lamison and Adj. Frank Evans.

The AMERICAN UNION. d 1861//
Pub. from Jul 4 to at least Jul 11 1861 by the Second Pennsylvania Regiment under the command of Major General Robert Patterson, Capt. Wm. B. Sipes, ed. In the issue of Jul 5 1861 it is stated: "After dark on the evening of the 3rd two disciples of Faust came to the writer of these lines and proposed to get out a newspaper for the glorious 4th. The idea was adopted ... the squad of twelve entered the office of the "Virginia Republican," struck a light, found plenty of paper, ink, etc., and went to work ..." Some three months later the Virginia Republican, no. 1286, resumed publication after a suspension following the issue of Jun 15. The Oct 12 issue of the Republican also gives an account of The American Union: "On the occupation of Martinsburg by the Hessian force of Gen. Patterson, our office was taken possession of by his thieves. The c!ɔ printed for some time a diminutive daily paper, called the "American Union," while they remained here."

The Morgantown MONITOR. w, s-w 1863/
Estab. Feb 14 1863(1:1), by Geo. C. Sturgiss and Wm. P. Willey, eds. & props. The Daily Intelligencer, Wheeling, leveled a steady editorial barrage against the Monitor and the Southern sympathies of Wm. P. Willey, son of Waitman T. Willey, and charged, in the issue of Sep 23 1863, that "The publication of such a paper as the Monitor, unchecked by the counter publication of a loyal paper, is a burning shame to the Union men of the populous county of Monongalia. Are the few Copperheads of that region the only ones who have spirit enough to keep up a paper?"
Issued semi-weekly in May and June, 1863, as The Semi-Weekly Monitor, continuing the numbering of the weekly. No copies located after Feb 13 1864(1:52).

Wheeling GAZETTE. w, t-w, d 1818-1844(?)//

Weekly

The weekly edition was estab. by Thomas Tonner & Joseph Clingan as The Va. North-Western Gazette, Apr 23 1818(1:1). The title was changed to Virginia North-Western Gazette between Sep 9-30 1819(2:8). Tonner bought out Clingan's interest on Nov 19 1818. Robert I. Curtis pub. the paper beginning about Sep 9 1820(Sep 30 1820 is n.s. 1:4), through May 1 1824(4:191), the date of the last issue printed with this title.

Suspensions occurred in the four weeks preceding Nov 12 1818, between May 20 and Jul 22 1819, and on Feb 29 1820 Curtis noted that the "paper is being issued irregularly due to having only one compositor." Thaddeus P. Robinson was ed., May 8-Aug 7 1824.

The weekly edition was continued by Curtis as the Wheeling Gazette, beginning May 8 1824(4:192), and the paper was continued under this title at least through Jun 18 1842. A weekly with the title Wheeling Weekly Gazette was pub. on Sep 28 1844, the date of the last issue located of the weekly Gazette.

Pub. by Robert I. Curtis, May 8 1824; by Curtis & M.C. Hull, Sep 13 1828(9:418); by R.I. Curtis Aug 8 1829, following the dissolution of partnership between Curtis and Hull; cby Samuel H. Davis, Jan 1 1835(?), who pub. the tri-weekly ed. by that date; by John M. M'Creary, Jun 6 1838, who pub. the tri-weekly on that date⊐; by John M. M'Creary, May 2 1840-Jan 15 1842; cby D. Hull on May 8 1844⊐.

Tri-weekly

Estab. Jan 1(?) 1835(Mar 16 1835 is 1:33), as The Wheeling Gazette. Title was changed to Wheeling Tri-Weekly Gazette by Aug 21 1835, and was so continued through Aug 5 1842, the date of the last issue of the tri-weekly located.

Wharton, ed. and prop. Jul 3 1838, and so continued at least through Jan 25 1843(12:16). Pub. under this title at least through Aug 15 1844. Title changed to Wheeling Gazette by Jan 1 1846(c.f. Wheeling Times and Advertiser, Jan 1 1846). The Wheeling Gazette for Jul 9 1857(29:28), was ed. by James B. Bingham; by Bingham and Armstrong, James B. Bingham, ed., Apr 21 1859(31:16); by P.H. Moore & Co., Oct 13 1859(31:40), the date of the last copy located.

Tri-Weekly edition

Estab. as the Wheeling Tri-Weekly Times on Jan 1(?) 1834(Feb 1 1834 is 1:17). Pub. by E.W. and L.D. Newton, ed. by E.W. Newton, Feb 1 1834; by E.W. Newton, Apr 28 1836; by E.W. Newton & Co., by Sep 27 1836, by which time the title had become Wheeling Tri-Weekly Times & Advertiser.

By James E. Wharton, Jul 3 1838(5:76), on which date the Newton-Wharton partnership was dissolved.

Title changed to Wheeling Times and Advertiser on Apr 27 1839 (6:51), James E. Wharton, ed. & prop. Wharton continued the tri-weekly under this title at least through Aug 2 1842(9:91), the date of the last copy located.

Daily edition

The daily was estab. sometime between Aug 2 1842 and Jan 1 1843, as the Wheeling Times and Advertiser. The issue of Jan 2 1843 is 10:1, indicating that the vol. numbering of the tri-weekly was continued. Pub. by James E. Wharton, 1843-Dec 28 1848(15:304), when he sold out to J.B. Clarke of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Clarke changed the title to Daily Wheeling Times beginning Jan 2 1849(15:305), continuing the numbering of his predecessor, but pub. the paper under this title only through Jan 27 1849 (16:21).

On Jan 29 1849(1:1), Clarke issued the first number of The Daily Wheeling Gazette, presenting it as a new paper, and not as a continuation of the Daily Wheeling Times. By Mar 7 1849 Clarke offered the Gazette for sale. On Jun 13 1849, E.R. Bartleson, foreman of the Times office for many years, was made general agent of the Gazette office and job printing departments.

E.R. Bartleson & Co. was ed. & prop. of the Gazette on Oct 1 1849, with Oliver I. Taylor as local ed., beginning Oct 9 1849. Bartleson continued the paper under the title, The Daily Wheeling Gazette, through Apr 24 1850(2:97). On Apr 25 1850(2:98), the title was changed to The Wheeling Times and Gazette, with Bartleson & Co., props. J.E. Wharton became ed. on Jun 26 1850.

The title of the Oct 4 1853 issue is Daily Wheeling Times and Gazette, still with E.R. Bartleson as pub. and prop., but with a vol. and no. of 25:236, which cannot be accounted for with the issues at hand. It is possible that the numbering of the weekly edition was picked up.

W.S. Gilman, of Essex county, Va., assumed the editorship on Aug 20 1855, according to a notice in the Wheeling Daily Intelligencer, Aug 21 1855. By Jan 31 1856 the title again was Daily Wheeling Times, pub. by The Times Publishing Co., W.S. Gilman and James B. Bingham, eds.(Wheeling Daily Intelligencer, Jan 31 1856).

The issue of Jun 25 1857(29:148), was pub. by James B. Bingham. About Nov 1858 the paper was purchased by men from Jefferson county, Va., who proposed to start a Democratic paper, according to a note in the Wheeling Daily Intelligencer, Nov 26 1858. Bingham and Armstrong were eds. & pubs. on Apr 25 1859(31:98), but by Aug 26 1859, the date of the last copy located, P.H. Moore & Co. are listed as props.

By Apr 1859, James E. Wharton was pub. of the Brooklyn [N.Y.] Daily Transcript, and in Nov 1859, E.R. Bartleson sold the Washington [Pa.] Republican, and joined Wharton on the Transcript (Daily Intelligencer, Wheeling, Apr 7, Nov 21 1859).

The Ladies' Garland.

VOL. 1. HARPERS-FERRY, VIRGINIA, FEBRUARY 14, 1824. NO. 1.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY EVENING,
BY JOHN S. GALLAHER.
At the Office of the Harpers-Ferry Free Press.

TERMS.—One dollar and fifty cents per annum, payable quarterly in advance; or one dollar and twenty five cents, to be paid at the time of subscribing. Payment in advance, from distant subscribers, who are not known to the publisher, will invariably be expected. Should payment be deferred to the end of the year, $2 will be required.

THE INTRODUCTION.

In presenting our first sheet to its patrons, we avail ourselves of the privilege which custom has given us, [illegible]

[illegible]

fair friends will aid us in diversifying our columns, and in "holding up the mirror to nature." For this purpose, they have our earnest and most respectful invitation. The many examples of illustrious females, who have devoted their talents to composition, should stimulate those of the present day to a laudable rivalry. The flowers of literature have never yet appeared more lovely than when culled and arranged by a fair florist, because the generous beholder is ever disposed to contemplate them with a liberality of feeling, and an exemption from that severity of criticism which is applied to the rougher sex. In their productions we find a delicacy, a pathos, [illegible] a sprightliness of manner, that are certain to captivate the heart, and win it over to the state of mind which the writer possesses. With all these inducements to emulation, superadded to their natural desire to please, there is sufficient reason to predict, that the period is not very remote, when the American female will celebrate, in flowing strains of prose and verse, [illegible]

THE LANDSCAPE.

ed by the penetrating eye of Columbia's first and dearest chieftain, as being suited, by its security and seclusion, to the manufacture of arms; that we might "in peace prepare for war." Even in this point of view the spot is consecrated in the bosom of every citizen—for whatever is associated with the name of WASHINGTON, is impressed in eternal remembrance upon the tablet of the heart. [illegible] too, is the valley, and these the hills, which attracted the attention of the sage of Monticello, even amidst the sober researches of philosophy, and a view of which he styled "worth a voyage across the Atlantic."

The town is situated in the north east section of Jefferson county, Virginia, in latitude thirty nine degrees twenty minutes north, and two degrees forty minutes west of Philadelphia. On the south east is ranged a portion of the Blue Ridge, at the base of which the Shenandoah river winds its devious way. The north-east is skirted by another range of this stupendous mountain, at the foot of which the boisterous Potomac is seen, engulphing the feebler waves of the Shenandoah, and seeking, [illegible] in the ridge, over rocks and falls, a vent eastwardly to the Ocean. The peculiar situation of the crags and protruding precipices, has favored the theory, that this vacuity was produced by some terrible convulsion of nature, which gave an outlet to the vast lake whose waters once overspread the fertile valley of Virginia. To the west, stretching from one river to the other, is a hill of considerable altitude, [illegible]

PRINTING POINTS IN WEST VIRGINIA, 1790-1863

The map, pages 278-279, shows towns in West Virginia known to have printing presses to and including 1863.

Inclusive dates are given during which presses were in operation. In many cases, however, there was a suspension of printing at some time or other during the course of the existence of a printing establishment.

Thus, at Wheeling in Ohio county, printing first commenced in 1807 (see entries 214, 683), but Wheeling's lone printer suspended operations in 1809 (see entry no. 672). The sheriff of Ohio county, living in nearby Elizabethtown (now Moundsville, Marshall county) then in Ohio county, contemplated setting up a printing press in his home in 1812* but failed to put the plan into operation.

It was not until 1818 (see entry no. 1413) that printing was resumed in Wheeling. A gap, therefore, exists of some eight years during which Ohio county was without a printing establishment.

During the Civil War most of the General Orders issued by commanding officers in the field in Western Virginia were printed on portable printing presses. An illustration of one of these General Orders is shown on page 141. By reason of the temporary nature of such field presses, the towns or camps at which they were used are omitted from the map.

Following is a list of places at which Army field presses are known to have been in operation. Several of these towns had regular printing offices during the War:

Beverly	Grafton
Camp Gauley Mountain	Huttonsville
Camp Mason	Mountain Cove
Camp Smith	New Creek
Clarksburg	Sutton
Cross Lanes	Tompkins Farm
	Wheeling

This Index embraces the period covered by this book, namely, 1790 through 1863.

All data after 1863 are excluded. Therefore, most personal names as well as references to publications mentioned in the introductory matter, pages 5 to 18 and 203 to 206, and in the Bibliography, pages 271 to 276, are omitted.

Also, notes and references to persons and publications after 1863 in the body of the checklists, pages 19 to 190 and 207 to 267, are excluded from this Index. Thus, the booklet by W. Scott Garner, cited in items nos. 1176-1177, is omitted; however, a list of references to Garner will be found in the Bibliography, at page 273.

Names of newspapers and serials are entered under their titles as well as under the various wordings within those titles.

IN CONCLUSION

With an undertaking of this nature no such thing as definitiveness can be expected. The editor consequently makes no apology in reporting that many new items have come to light since typing of final copy was commenced.

Rather than list them in an Addenda to this book, it is planned to incorporate such unrecorded publications in a supplement to be published, it is hoped, at a not too distant date. It will, therefore, be appreciated if items not listed in this volume are reported to the editor. Persons wishing to obtain such supplement are invited to make that fact known.

Errors of a typographical nature have been discovered and corrected as typing of final copy progressed. As confession is good for the soul, a couple of humorous slips may be mentioned, such as listing the date of publication of a book as 1956 instead of 1856 and the giving of the address of Mr. Lutz on page 12 as Richmond, W.Va., instead of Richmond, Va. Fortunately, these particular boners were caught in time. Other equally inexcusable errors have undoubtedly slipped in unnoticed, for which the editor alone is to blame.

It has not been practicable to correct original entries in the checklists in the following cases:

Item no. 334, an order by Colonel McDonald for the destruction of military objectives during the Civil War, probably was not printed. It should be deleted.

Nos. 628 and 1096 are identical; 628 is a listing under author and no. 1096 a listing of the same broadside under title. No. 1096 should be deleted.

The two newspapers, The Virginia Telescope, no. 1353, and The Virginia Messenger, no. 1351, purportedly published at Point Pleasant, are probably the same as newspapers with identical titles, nos. 1396 and 1395, listed under West Columbia.

As stated in the Foreword, the West Virginia Library Association in 1954 voted to sponsor this publication. At that time it was the editor's plan to issue it as a preliminary short-title checklist of books and pamphlets only and to have it ready for publication in about a year's time. The publication was later expanded in its scope and made to include lists of newspapers and periodicals, together with various tables and indexes; consequently its preparation has taken a much longer time than originally anticipated.

In the meantime, Mr. Vitto J. Brenni, who for some four years had been preparing a Biobibliography of West Virginia authors, obtained sponsorship of his publication by the library association in February, 1957. Containing 73 pages, it was ready for publication before the present work and was published late in 1957.

The West Virginia Library Association has graciously permitted publication of this volume as Publication No. 1 of the association, although it is not the first to appear chronologically.

It is here announced that Publication No. 2, West Virginia Authors: A biobibliography, compiled and edited by Vitto J. Brenni, may be obtained from the association at the West Virginia University Library, Morgantown, West Va., price $3.00.

Now, that this checklist covering the period down through 1863 has been published, the suggestion is made that there be an extension down to 1901, then a later one to the present time!
